THE GOLD SUPPLY

If the theory that the supply of gold in the world is controlled by the movement of gold in and out of the United States is correct, we have a situation in this country which would make for an irresistible upward movement in prices, accompanied by inflation. The United States now holds more than one-half of all the gold of the world. Our stock amounts to some $1,200,000,000. Gold has been flowing in to us during the last year at the rate of about $1,000,000 a day. The business of trade is still in our favor and gold continues to come in.

We have far more gold than is needed to support soundly our credit and currency system—a billion and a half more, it is estimated, than is amply required for this purpose. Control by the Federal Reserve management has thus far kept this extra amount from being used or even considered for further expansion—that, and the conservation of the banking contingent of the country, reinforced by the caution of the business public. The enormous unused gold supply is a potential menace. But there are other uses for our surplus gold which are favorable in that direction.

But to return to the subject of trend in prices we see in the movement during the last year, evidence of a certain amount of stabilization—at least in some lines of trade. Stabilization—limited seasonal movement up or down—would be an ideal condition, enabling merchants to stock up ahead of current demands reasonably, and would reinvigorate forward buying which is now practically eliminated in business, at least to any such extent as is practiced in a normal market.

STATE INCOME TAX RECEIPTS.

Reports to March 5 About Quarter Million Off From Expected Yield.

Bank balances of the State Income Tax bureau at closing of business last week were $240,000 short of the expected yield.

Thomas M. Lynch, director of the bureau, said that even though the estimated loss by increased exemptions was $1,000,000, $1,000,000 from the freedom from tax of bank dividends and income from moneyed capital, and about eight and a quarter million from the tax on the Smith reduction bill, the deposits were $400,000 less than the previous year, falling from $2,250,000 to $1,850,000.

All of the causes of loss of revenue amounting to approximately one-third of the tax of $1,700,000 collected last year, ought to now reflect $1,500,000.

Collections through the Albany office total $240,000 as against $1,730,000 in 1923, or a falling behind of $155,000 even in the face of the expected reduction.

In New York city, bank deposits total $50,700 instead of $300,300 last year. This is $249,600 less than was expected.

In Brooklyn the money totals $53,000, which is about half of 1923 payments and $20,000 behind the estimate.

Smaller offices at Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse and Utica have not lagged so far behind in the expected payments as the larger agencies.

THE GUIDE POST—

BY BEERY VAN DYKE

IMMORTALITY AND HAPPINESS.

Set your mind on the things that are above.—1st Cor. 2:2.

Take the truth of immortality. Let a man live now in the light of the knowledge that he is to live forever.

How it deepens and strengthens the meaning of his existence, lifts him above petty cares and ambitions, and makes the things that are worth while precious to his heart.

Let him realize that the afflictions on the spiritual side of life, let him endure afflictions patiently because he knows that they are but for a moment, let him think more of the soul than of the body, let him do good to his fellowmen in order to make them share his love and friendship, let him guard his love and friendship that they may be as for the next life.

Let the man who does these things will be happy.

It will be with him as with Lazarus, in Robert Browning's poem, "The Death of Karshish."

There will look at him with wonder and joy.

"Wherefore has the man the look that brightness has?"

"That shines upon the world like a star."

This is the life of following the guidepost of Christ in action. The guidepost of Christ in action. The guidepost of Christ in action.

CLIPPINGS FROM THE PRESS

Public in Massachusetts

Mrs. William Lowell Putnam, it appears, has withdrawn as a candidate for delegate-at-large to the Republican National convention, to make way for a veteran of the World War.

It had been determined that of seven places, at least as four should go to men and the rest to women. Then came the well-grounded cry for the recognition of the soldier. Then, from the following, the assumption that one of three women should give way, rather than one of four men, and for another man. That, though some of the men, if not all, were already booked under the weight of party honors, in long years past, Senator Lodge being particularly a cripple in this respect.

Mrs. Putnam has set a splendid pace in a life of devotion, even to a race of spiritually developed men, the only cloud on the situation being, however, that some one of these presumably great gentlemen could not find time to have a good forward and protruded his head on the political funeral pyre, it remained for a woman to make the supreme sacrifice.

Learn both her victories no less great than war—Springfield Republican.

Petty Beyond Words.

It is humiliating to think that we have come to the point where every little tale and gratuitous suspicion about the president of the United States must be given resounding publicity. However, there is now no help for it. The net of the senate committee has been flung far and wide and everything caught in it must be pawed over by the public. Fortunately no one will be so foolish as to accuse Mr. Coolidge of any complicity in the effort of Mr. McLean and Secretary Fall to deceive the senate committee and to defraud the public. The President's immediate and frank explanation of the McLean telegram is such as to allay every doubt.—New York Times.

Showing Understanding.

The society of Independent Artists is encouraging visitors to its annual exhibition to keep their hats on, the theory being that Americans err in showing respect for art rather than understanding of it. Following the same line of reasoning, it would appear that appreciation of the drama could be fostered by sitting in shirt-sleeves at the theatre.—New York Herald.

The New Chicago Cardinal.

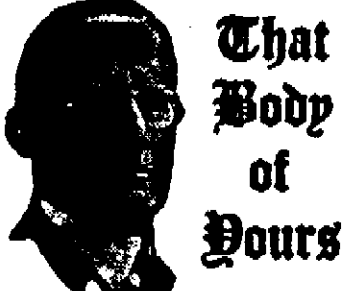

Chicago knows Archbishop Mundelein as a great churchman, as a builder of imagination, as an appreciator of art and as a good citizen. His elevation to the cardinalate is a matter for congratulation for all concerned—the church, the city and the man.—Chicago Daily News.

The Real Patriot.

The real patriot is the man who wears a smile on his face while he is paying his income tax.—Asheville Times.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Burton, M.D.

DIFFERENT RESULTS FROM SAME SYSTEM.

Physicians are sometimes asked to explain why it is that two people who will arrange to eat exactly the same amount and kind of food, to do the same amount of work, and get the same amount of rest, will show such a difference in the amount of weight increase in one month's time. One will show an increase of a half pound or even less, the other an increase of from seven to ten pounds.

What is the explanation?

It is very simple.

In the case of the one who increased greatly in weight, it means that his tissues will take in and manufacture into it as a certain quantity of food. When the other it means that his tissues will not take in, don't want it in fact, and it goes out of the body unused. I am speaking now of normal types.

As you know where the thyroid gland is not so resting sufficiently, fat is not burned up, and is thus deposited all over the body. Where the thyroid secretes too much the tissues are burned up, and extreme thinness is so often seen.

But in normal individuals the explanation is as above stated.

Now what is the suggestion?

Well, if it were war time and food conservation were necessary, it certainly would be the proper thing for them both to cut down their entire food supply.

One because his food was only depositing fat, and the other because his system didn't need it and it was thrown out of the body unused. And, even if it were not war time it would be well for them to cut down their food supply.

But the better plan would be to increase their working or exercising periods and so use up the material.

What would happen?

The fat individual would decrease in weight because the fat would be burned up by exercise. You take a real athlete. When he stops training he puts on some weight. A good sign you see. His body will take care of a few extra pounds.

The thin person by working or exercising will manufacture more flesh, but fat but real muscle, and his weight will actually increase.

The extra food taken in really becomes a part of him, instead of passing through unutilized.

And so the old saying that exercise makes the fat person lose weight, and the thin person increase in weight, is an absolute fact. And the big secret is in that they are both all the stronger physically for it. One by burning his fat and increasing his muscle, and the other from the muscle increase itself.

As to the improvement in the general health itself, that goes without saying.

PREVENTION OF DIPHTHERIA

Conference of Local Physicians Considers Plan of Immunization With Dr. Reinhard, State Health Officer for District—How Bourgeois Can Be Exterminated.

A meeting of physicians of Oneonta was called to confer on the prevention of diphtheria at the Fox Memorial hospital on Friday evening. Dr. Augustus, the local health officer, made some introductory remarks in which he stated that he had for several years been interested in taking steps to prevent diphtheria, which had taken on epidemic proportions two years ago, and which was at all times present in the community, but that up to the present time he had neither the time nor a sufficient personnel with which to do the work, however, that he considered the prevention of diphtheria one of the most important public health advances of recent years.

Dr. F. O. Reinhard, District State Health officer, gave a detailed and somewhat technical description of the use of toxin and anti-toxin in preventing this disease and also of the value of the Schick test.

By the Schick test, which is a simple skin reaction, we are enabled to tell whether a person can contract diphtheria or not. The test is simple to give, painless and leaves no scars. After we know that a patient can contract the disease because of a positive reaction, the next and more important step should be taken. By injecting toxin anti-toxin in small quantities at intervals of one week, for three successive doses, we are enabled to produce an active immunity. By this we mean that in 98 per cent of cases so treated, diphtheria cannot be contracted. On being asked what was the best time to give this treatment, Dr. Reinhard stated that the most good would be accomplished if parents would have their children immunized at the age of one year.

To one year as 50 per cent of all deaths occur in the first three years of life. The other 50 per cent occur during school ages. He further stated that 800,000 children had been given this treatment in the New York City schools to date, and that an equal number of children had been inoculated throughout the state. Diphtheria is today an entirely preventable disease comparable only to the prevention of small pox through vaccination.

The state health officer expects to take up the desirability of introducing treatment in the schools of Oneonta with the local school authorities in the near future, and if consent is given, an opportunity will be furnished to those parents who wish their children protected against one of the greatest scourges of childhood, to avail themselves of this treatment.

The physicians present at the meeting expressed their hearty sympathy with the project and went on record to support the movement in every way possible.

Among those present were: Dr. Julian C. Smith, A. W. Cutler, N. W. Getman, D. H. Mills, E. J. Parish, G. W. Simmons, F. H. Marx, G. W. Augustin, L. S. Lane, L. S. House of Oneonta and F. L. Winsor of Laurens.

A letter from Mayor Bolton regarding his inability to be present was read. He wrote a hearty endorsement of any means to protect the health of the citizens of Oneonta.

FAIR LABOR IN DELAWARE.

Arrangements Made to Secure Compulsory Foremen Help for Summer.

As was given out through the press some time ago the Delaware County Farm Bureau association has carried out arrangements with an agency in New York to secure farm labor. This agency is charging a fee of $2.00 for their services in securing men, which they will guarantee as dependable and take the risk of their meeting the conditions of the farms, which request help.

This certainly will provide us a cheap means of securing farm help this year. The fee, that will be obtainable to be foremen, this have had years of experience in their native countries. Nationalities which are being requested are Polish, Swedish or Hollanders.

Delaware County Farm Bureau desires help can write their needs to the Farm Bureau office enclosing the fee for the man desired and state the nationality wanted. Further details should be given as to kind of man wanted and rather complete details as to work which he is to do. This information will be forwarded to the agency in New York city and every effort will be made to secure a reliable man. The cooperation of the dairymen is solicited in this regard. It might further be stated that transportation charges in some cases will have to be advanced by the farmer but this will be taken out of the wages of the man employed. Further details can be secured through the Farm Bureau office.

Dairy Farmers in Coodly Numbers Joining League Daily.

Dairy farmers have been joining the Dairymen's League Cooperative association, Inc. in coodly numbers since the termination of the annual cancellation period, February 12 to 25, when an opportunity was accorded members to advise notices of withdrawal, effective April 1.

The Membership Service Department reports that during the week of March 2, 127 new contracts—a daily average of 21—were received. During the first thirteen days of March 212 milk producers signed up with the association, making a total of 4,212 new contracts since April 1, 1923.

During the cancellation period, notices of withdrawal were received from 2,557 active participants in the pool and from 2,137 inactive members, making a total of 5,124, as compared with 10,744 cancellations in 1923.

Organized efforts were made by men, who are opposed to the cooperative marketing of milk, to induce farmers to withdraw from the pool. They tried to make cancellations easy by printing and distributing forms with withdrawal notices which required only the signatures of members to make them effective. Despite their strenuous campaign to encourage farmers to abandon their association only a comparatively small number of the carefully prepared notices were filed at the headquarters of the association.

February Pool Price

It was announced at the New York office of the Dairymen's League Cooperative association, Inc., that the February pool price for 2 per cent milk at the 20-210 mile zone is $1.30 per 100 pounds with a deduction of 4 cents for certificates of indebtedness and 3 cents for pool expenses. The cash distribution is $1.27 payable on March 25.

INFANT IDENTIFICATION

New Plan of Knowing "Who's Who" at Aurelia Osborn Fox Memorial Hospital.

A rather unique innovation in hospital methods has been adopted by the Aurelia Osborn-Fox Memorial hospital of this city, which eliminates any possibility of a mistake being made in identifying babies.

A headband with white lettered beads, spelling the family name, and when the baby is born it is sealed around its neck, not to be removed until the mother and her baby are ready to leave the hospital.

In the opinion of hospital authorities, genuine instances of confusion in identifying babies are few and far between, but by adopting this infallible identification they obtain a method which is also pleasing and ornamental and with merits so apparent as to allay any fears and doubts which might be possessed by nervous mothers.

Through its use of the necklace, the Aurelia Osborn Fox Memorial hospital now has the same method of infant identification used by such famous institutions as Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore; Henry Ford hospital, Detroit; Passavant hospital, Pittsburgh; Brooklyn hospital, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Philadelphia Lying-In hospital, Philadelphia, Pa.; Nicholas Senn hospital, Omaha, and others.

UNCLE SAM MEANS BUSINESS

Patience to Okey Okey Leads Three Company G Members in Company Drill with Summary Court Martial.

The conviction that when you enlist in the National guard you are really in the army and are subject to military discipline in certain matters was brought home forcibly to Edward Halter, Alva Barney and Samuel Layman, all members of Company G of this city, on Saturday when they were taken to Camp Edwards by General Headquarters to serve 100 days each imposed by Major Charles T. O'Neil of Wallen as the result of a summary court martial held in Oneonta three weeks ago.

A tendency to absent themselves frequently from drill without an adequate excuse for such absence got the men into their present difficulty. Halter and Barney had been before summary court martial before and had been fined each time. With the warning at their last appearance that another offense would mean a jail sentence.

Layman was in a little deeper. Last summer when the company was called to go to training camp Layman was absent without leave. A detail was sent to get him and accompanied its mission but not without a hand to hand fight. When brought before Captain Louis M. Baker, Layman stated that he was to be married that week and that the invitations had already been sent out. He was excused from camp but upon condition that he drill regularly. His next appearance in the army was when he came before the court. Striking non-commissioned officers was added to the charge of absence from drill.

The court martial was held in Oneonta three weeks ago by Major O'Neil and decision was reserved at that time. Orders were later issued to arrest the men and execute the sentences imposed upon them and, accordingly, they were placed under arrest on Saturday and turned over to Sheriff Converse for transportation to the county guard house where they are now considering the proposition that their Uncle Samuel always means business.

PATIENCE AND INGENUITY

Displayed by Thurlow A. Smith in Making Model of D. & H. Locomotive.

The following article descriptive of the miniature locomotive made by Thurlow A. Smith of this city and on exhibition in the window of his vulcanizing shop on Wall street appeared in the last issue of the D. & H. bulletin, accompanied by an excellent cut of the toy.

"Building a locomotive for 'display or home use' is a mere matter of patience and ingenuity. Try it and see if you possess these qualities. Just get together a few thousand odd pieces of wood, a pocket knife, plane, coping saw, wood chisel, some wire and a bottle of glue and then—then go to work. Start now, and by Christmas time you will be able, perhaps, to make some child a present that will forever win you their esteem and devotion.

"Can't do it? Pshaw! In the window of a vulcanizing shop in Wall street, Oneonta, N. Y., is a replica of Delaware and Hudson passenger locomotive, which attracts the attention of the passing public and aggravates the longings of the small boy as well. It was made as outlined above by Thurlow A. Smith, proprietor of the shop, whose brothers, Edmund B. and Elmer E., are employed by the company, respectively, as locomotive engineer and conductor.

"The model was designed on a scale of five-eighths of an inch to the foot. It contains more than 5,000 parts and weighs about twenty pounds. Most of the work was done with a pocket knife. The boiler and firebox were carved from a solid piece of pine. Cedar cigar boxes supplied the material for many of the smaller parts. It is 4 feet 4 inches long, 11 inches high, and has a gauge of 34 inches. More than 100 feet of wire were used to represent pipes. The wheels, axles, rods, pistons and valve gearings are movable. The boiler is in working order, and an electric headlight 'shows the way.' The material cost approximately $15 and its required eight months to complete the model.

"Smith previously made a model of passenger locomotive No. 999 of New York Central fame."

HIT BY LOCOMOTIVE

Harry Long of Sidney Seriously Injured in Accident Saturday Morning Near Main Street Viaduct.

Harry Long, 27 years of age, a member of the D. & H. travelling paint crew with residence in Sidney, is in the Fox Memorial hospital with a fractured skull as a result of being struck by a freight train near the Main street viaduct Saturday morning as he was walking down the tracks. His condition was stated at the hospital last evening to be slightly improved.

Long, who was working on a painting job at the freight house, was walking down the track in company with Harry Gordon, Jr., to procure some paint at the D. & H. boarding car, where he has been quartered during his stay in Oneonta. He was and was hit by northbound fast freight extra 441 at a point opposite the glove factory. The bumper beam hit Long and threw his several feet. Gordon, his companion, was uninjured. How the man happened to be hit by a train coming toward him and which he could see is not known. The engineer claims that he blew the whistle and did all he could to avoid hitting the man. Gordon stated that he was unaware that anything had happened until he saw Long's body flying through the air.

The ambulance was immediately summoned and at 10:30 o'clock, six minutes after the accident, the injured man was on his way to the hospital. It was ascertained there that he was suffering from a severe fracture of the skull. It was stated at the hospital last evening that his condition seemed slightly improved.

Long is the son of Mrs. Minnie Long of Smith street, Sidney. A sister, Mrs. Clyde H. Benedict, resides in Oneonta.

FIRE IN OVER NIGHT

Three Saturday Evening Commendable Damage to Dwelling at Corner of Burnside Avenue and Henry Street.

Fire which undoubtedly originated from an overheated furnace caused considerable damage to the double house at the corner of Burnside avenue and Henry street Saturday morning and gave the firemen the hardest kind of a fight for two hours before it was declared extinguished. The house is owned by James Myers and William Bell, who reside in the burned portion. Oakley Boardley is the tenant in the other half of the dwelling.

Mr. Myers had the fire at 7 a. m. and then went to his work on the D. & H. Sometime later Mr. Bell put on the drafts and then came uptown, leaving no one in the house. At about 11:15 o'clock Mr. Boardley smelled smoke but thought that it came from outside. He made an investigation, however, and upon opening the door into the cellar under the other side of the house discovered the blaze. He sent in the alarm from box 52, at the corner of Luther street and Burnside avenue.

By the time the trucks arrived the fire had streaked up between the partitions to the attic and the firemen had to cut holes in floors and side-walls to get at the blaze. The dense smoke made fire fighting a difficult matter.

The damage to the house and furniture is estimated at $1,500, fully covered by insurance. Neighbors carried some of the furniture out but a good share of it was scorched and streaked by smoke and water. Mr. Boardley's loss was nominal.

The fire was the first to which the local department has been summoned in over a month.

PROMINENT DELHI LAWYER

John P. Shaw Passes Away Following Long Period of Ill Health—Law Student of Late W. H. Johnson.

Delhi, Mar. 16.—John P. Shaw, a well known and for many years a prominent lawyer of Delhi, died at his home in this village Saturday. Mr. Shaw suffered a stroke some few years since and while not helpless from that time had not been in the best of health. Another stroke a week ago rendered him helpless and he failed steadily until the end.

Mr. Shaw was born in the town of Delhi on March 14, 1844, the son of Daniel Shaw and Margaret Lennox, being the oldest of eight children. He received his early education in the district schools, later attending Delaware Academy. He went to Andes where he commenced the study of law in the office of the late William H. Johnson, for many years a resident of Oneonta. In the year 1867 Mr. Shaw went to the state of Iowa and spent a year there, later returning to Andes and in May, 1869, he was admitted to the bar from which time he had actively engaged in all kinds of law practice.

Shortly after his admission to the bar he opened an office in Margaretville but within a period of two years removed to Delhi, where he had since remained. Due to his perseverance and energy he built up a lucrative practice and at one time or another had practiced in all the courts of the state.

On January 4, 1871, he was united in marriage to Margaret E. Maxwell, daughter of Ebenezer E. Maxwell, grandson of Judge Foster, first judge of Delaware county, and to this union were born three children, Maxwell D. Shaw of Oneida and Frederick F. Shaw and Miss Frances R. Shaw, both residing at home.

Mr. Shaw was a strong supporter of the Republican party and a member of the Episcopal church in this village. He is survived by a brother, Daniel Shaw, of Delhi, and a sister, Mrs. Calhoun of Middletown, and the three children above named. His wife died a few years ago.

The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Delhi Episcopal church, the pastor, Rev. Horace Johnson, officiating.

FUNERAL OF DAVID R. DENNY

Body of Former Resident Brought to Oneonta—Native of Pennsylvania.

The body of the late David R. Denny, a native of Pennsylvania and from early boyhood a resident of Oneonta and vicinity until he removed nine years ago to Watford, was brought on Sunday morning from the latter place to this city. The remains, accompanied by members of his immediate family, arrived in this city at 11 a. m. and were taken to the vault at Glenwood, where at 1:30 p. m. the funeral services were conducted by Rev. John W. Flynn of the First Methodist Episcopal church. At this service there was a considerable attendance of friends of the deceased and his family, residing in Oneonta.

The deceased was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Denny and was 64 years of age. He was married in 1873 to Miss Elizabeth Louise Tidwell of Oneonta. He was for 16 years an employee of the Oneonta and Hudson company, and later, from 1894 to 1915, conducted a lunch store at 239 Main street, this city. After retiring from business he removed to Watford, where his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hoyt, are located. Besides his wife and daughter, Mr. Denny is survived by his son, Henry C. Denny, who is principal of the Oneonta school at Greenwich, Conn., by a sister, Mrs. Emma Tate of Cooperstown, and his daughter, Mrs. Corbell Denny of 61 Maple street, this city.

Mr. Denny's illness was of about one year's duration and was of a chronic nature, followed by heart failure. He was a devoted member of the Methodist Episcopal church and was a much respected man who was well known to all who knew him. The funeral was conducted by Rev. William Flynn.

Among those accompanying the body to Oneonta were Mrs. Denny, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt of Watford, Conn., and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brown of Oneonta, who attended with the body to the city and will be present at the funeral service to be held at the Glenwood vault.

DEFENSE SEEKS NEW TRIAL

In Action Recently Tried at Cooperstown by Which Marcellus M. Cressell Was Given Verdict of $1,000.

Before Justice Kellogg at chambers here on Saturday a motion for a new trial was made on behalf of the defendant in the case of Marcellus M. Cressell against Fred S. Williams, Fletcher Brown, John H. Watkins and J. Stanley Watkins, in which the jury rendered a sealed verdict for $1,000 for the plaintiff.

The case was argued for the defendant by Orange L. VanHorne of Cooperstown, who asked the verdict be set aside and a new trial ordered on the ground that it was contrary to and against the weight of evidence and contrary to law. The motion was opposed by Attorney Fred J. Sison of Ulster representing the plaintiff.

The court reserved decision, but intimated that a decision might be expected shortly.

Intoxicated Driver Jailed.

William L. Felter, who was indicted on the charge of driving on the public highways an automobile while intoxicated, but who had been ill since and had not been arraigned, was before the court on Saturday and plead guilty, to the charge. He was given a 60-day sentence to the county jail at Cooperstown. The court reiterated that no consideration could be expected for him or for any offenders who are convicted or plead guilty to this charge and that fines would no longer be considered. District Attorney Campbell of Schenectady appeared for the People and O. L. VanHorne for the accused.

Two Divorce Actions.

Evidence was taken in the divorce action instituted by Adelbert E. Miller of Worcester against his wife, Carrie May Miller. Evidence of several witnesses was taken and the case then adjourned for future hearing. Claude V. Smith appeared for the plaintiff and C. F. Baker of Sidney for the defendant.

The evidence was completed in the divorce action of George Fisher against his wife, Lola Fisher, both of whom reside in Gilboa, and the decree was granted. Clyde H. Propper of Schoharie appeared for the plaintiff, with no appearance for the defendant.

Judgment of Foreclosure.

Hon. George L. Bocken was appointed referee to compute and also to seal in the foreclosure action brought by Clarence S. Morris at law against Meta K. Hubbell. Judgment of sale being granted George Wohlleben for plaintiff.

Why Engine Oil Must Be Changed Every 500 Miles

Tuning up your car is a very interesting operation and one that gives the real motorist a lot of pleasure. It is not particularly difficult, and can be performed very easily by the average car owner.

Probably the most important single attention a car requires is to see that the engine is lubricated properly. This I do not mean simply pouring so much oil into the crankcase, and keeping it at the correct level. It is important to keep enough oil in the crankcase, but it is equally as important to make sure that you USE THE PROPER GRADE OF OIL, AND CHANGE IT REGULARLY.

Some engines require a light-bodied oil, others a medium or heavy body. All kinds of trouble will be caused if you use the wrong kind of oil in your engine. Consult the oil chart issued by the large oil companies, and use the grade of oil they specify for your particular car. They have made a study of the lubrication system of your car, and know just what oil will suit it best.

Few drivers realize the importance of draining the crankcase every 500 miles. During the cold weather especially, a considerable quantity of water and gasoline finds its way into the crankcase, and destroys the lubricating properties of the oil. The water gets into the crankcase in two ways; through condensation of water in the exhaust gases, and through condensation of moisture that is drawn in through the oil breather pipe.

Half fill a glass with ice water, and you will notice that immediately water begins to condense on the side of the glass, and as soon as the moisture in the air strikes it, it condenses. This same action takes place inside the crankcase. The air that is drawn into it contains a certain amount of moisture, and as soon as it strikes the inside of the crankcase, condenses, and before long you have a considerable quantity of water collected there.

Now start the engine, then take the glass and hold it over the end of the exhaust pipe. In a few seconds you will notice drops of water forming inside the glass. Perhaps you have noticed drops of water dripping from the end of the exhaust pipe, and thought the cylinder was cracked. The water that came out of the exhaust pipe is condensed from the exhaust gases. Of course it MAY be a cracked cylinder, but this is unlikely unless you have had your engine frozen up during the cold weather. Some of the water that is condensed passes out of the exhaust, but some of it is drawn down past the pistons into the crankcase.

The gasoline supplied nowadays is very heavy compared with that of a few years ago, and requires considerable heat and a very efficient carburetor to vaporize it. When the engine is cold, the choke is generally used to assist in starting, and the gasoline passing into the cylinders is only partially vaporized, and is not broken up fine enough to form a quick-burning mixture. The result is that a certain amount of liquid gasoline is left on the walls of the cylinders, and is forced down into the crankcase on the compression stroke. This gasoline mixes with the oil, further diluting it.

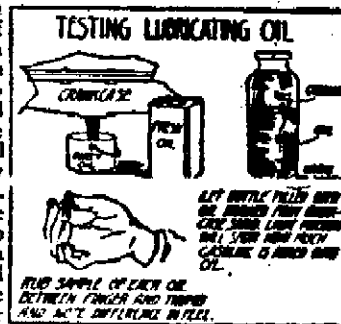

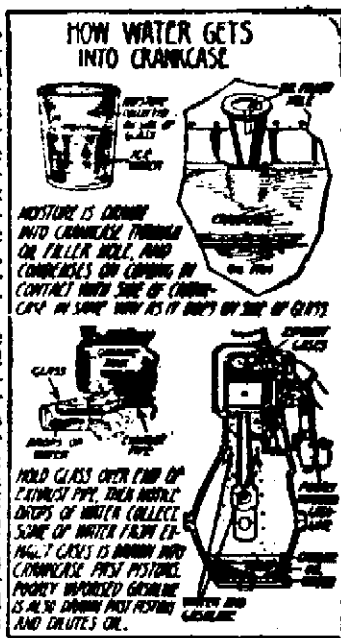

When the roads are dry, a quantity of dust and grit is drawn down into the crankcase, and this mixed with the water, gasoline and oil, forms a sludge. This mixture is naturally a very poor lubricant, and if allowed to remain in the crankcase will cause rapid wear in all bearings and cylinder walls, soon making the engine very noisy and necessitating an overhauling in a short time.

A rough test that will give you a good idea of the condition of the oil in the crankcase, is to drain off a sample and rub it between the finger and thumb, then dip your fingers into some fresh oil and test in the same way. The old oil will have no body, and will feel "dry" and thin, while the new oil will have a smooth velvety feel. Another test is to draw off some of the oil from the crankcase into a clear bottle, and let stand for a day. When oil is settled you will notice the gasoline comes to the top, the oil remains in the center and the water and sediment drops to the bottom of the bottle.

You will now realize that if you are going to keep your engine in first class condition this summer, it will be absolutely necessary that you drain the crankcase every 500 miles. Like everything else, there is a right and wrong way to go about this job, so next week I will tell you how to do it.

SALES FOR AUTO SALESMEN

Sales School Campaign Planned by Dealer's Association in April.

The Empire State Automobile Merchants' Association is organizing an elaborate system of schools for salesmen to be conducted during the month of April. The movement, in the opinion of the board of directors of the association, is a state wide spring tonic and sales revival campaign. Schools for salesmen will be conducted in New York, Brooklyn, Albany, Utica, Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo, Elmira and Binghamton.

O. H. Chamberlain has been engaged by the State association as sales consultant and advisor and will conduct these schools for the association. He has had wide experience in running sales schools for the National Cash Register and other national selling organizations and has conducted schools for dealers and distributors of automobiles in practically every large city in the country.

The movement organized by the State association gives to dealers in the smaller cities the advantage of practical sales advice which has only been available in the past to the larger city dealers.

The schools will be carried on in the evenings so that dealers in territory surrounding the point at which the instructions will be given, may send their salesmen without interfering with their daily routine.

CAREFUL DRIVERS CLUB

Pledge to be Taken by Those Who Would Qualify.

In view of the increasing number of people who are being killed and injured an effort is being made in some cities to organize a Careful Drivers' club. There are no dues and all one has to do to enroll in the club is make the following pledge:

I promise to drive carefully at all times, observing all safety rules, traffic laws and ordinances. I will not dispute the right-of-way at intersections. I will see that the brakes on my car are always effective. I will stop, look and listen at all railway and street car crossings. I will always signal to the driver behind when turning or stopping. I will cross all intersections and enter all main arteries of traffic under control.

I will observe school traffic signs, drive carefully where children are playing in streets and respect the rights of pedestrians.

I will do my part to reduce the frightful number of automobile wrecks, casualties and fatalities.

QUICKER STOPS IN FUTURE

Authority Says Only Fifty Feet Will Be Necessary Then.

That automotive speeds of from forty to fifty miles an hour in non-congested districts will not only be removed from the classification of "dangerous" but will be eventually legalized as a result of increased braking facilities, is the expressed opinion of an authority. In the past, 232 feet was considered the shortest distance in which a car, traveling at fifty miles an hour, could be stopped. With the improved methods and materials, this has now been reduced to 160 feet. "Under these conditions and with the road clear for a distance of 300 feet, why is not a speed of fifty miles per hour perfectly safe?"
